THE SIX FLAGS STORY

The beginning... In the late 50's, after a visit to Walt Disney's new creation, Disneyland, Angus G. Wynne Jr., son of a wealthy Texas oil man, envisioned a new form of family entertainment. His great notion was to create a theme park that would be large in scope and filled with fantasy, like Disneyland, yet closer to the customer so that a family visit would be easier and more affordable. And in the tradition of his wild west Texas roots, Wynne wanted more emphasis on thrills and excitement.

To complete his dream, Wynne imported the late Randall Duell, legendary Hollywood art director of over 60 MGM films such as "Singing in the Rain" and "Jailhouse Rock." Duell went on to create Six Flags Over Texas with six themed areas representing the flags that had flown over Texas: Spain, France, Mexico, the Confederacy, the Republic of Texas and the USA.

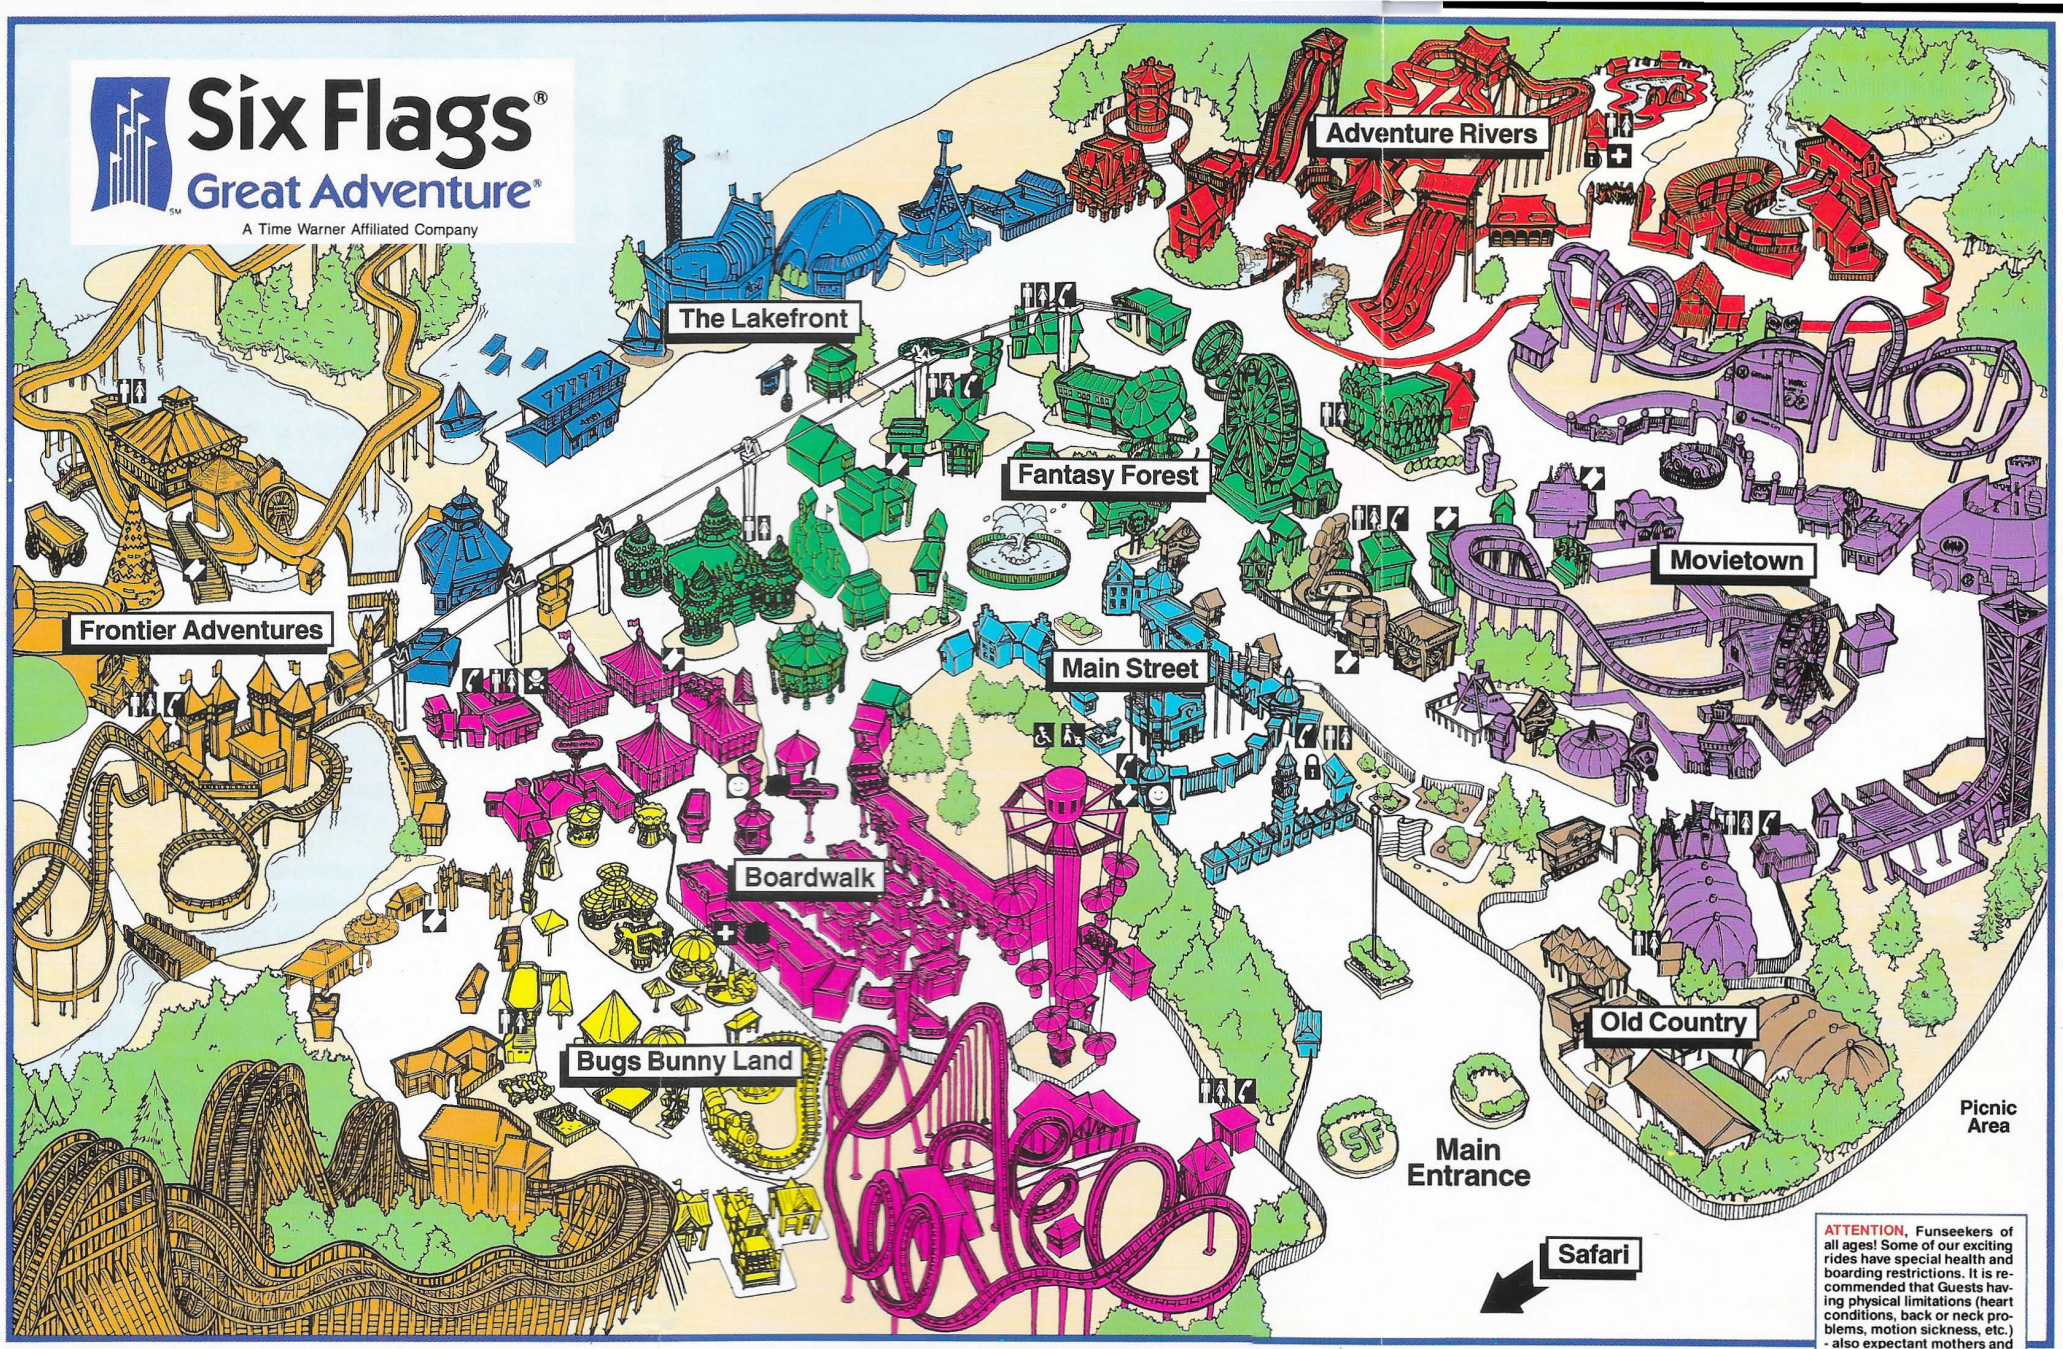
Wynne's park was responsible for pioneering much of what has become standard in the theme park industry today, including the pay-one-price ticket, the first log flume ride, the tubular steel rollercoaster, man-made whitewater rafting adventures, total freefall rides and Broadway style musical revues.

On the heels of his success with the first Six Flags, Wynne built Six Flags Over Georgia near Atlanta in 1967 and Six Flags Over Mid - America near St. Louis in 1971. They were followed by AstroWorld in Houston (1975), Six Flags Great Adventure in New Jersey between New York City and Philadelphia (1977), Six Flags Magic Mountain just north of Los Angeles (1979) and Six Flags Great America north of Chicago (1984). As a result, there's now a Six Flags park within a day's drive of 85% of America.

Wynne died in 1979 at the age of 65 but his dream lives on. Today, all the parks offer a well-rounded family experience that includes exciting rides, attractions, concerts, theatrical productions, quality shopping and great food in a wonderfully landscaped environment.

Now affiliated with Time Warner, the world's leading media and entertainment company, Six Flags is poised to scale new heights.

"Bigger, faster and closer," the future of Six Flags remains consistent with Angus Wynne's original vision. A granite marker in the original park's entry mall reads: "Dedicated to the memory of Angus G, Wynne Jr., innovator and friend, founder of Six Flags." We dedicate ourselves to providing the wholesome blend of family entertainment, which was Angus Wynne's dream come true.



ATTENTION, Funseekers of all ages! Some of our exciting rides have special health and boarding restrictions. It is recommended that Guests having physical limitations (heart conditions, back or neck problems, motion sickness, etc.) - also expectant mothers and small children - observe the warning signs or see a Host or Hostess at the attraction for additional information.

This Cavalier costs less a day than a burger, large fries and a shake.

CHEVROLET CAVALIER VL

You can buy it for $6.23* a day. For lunch money and your basic down payment, you can have a '93 Cavalier. With a Multi-Port Fuel-Injected engine, standard anti-lock brakes and a toll-free number to call anytime, anyplace, for 24-hour Roadside Assistance.† Besides, Cavalier has no calories.

Save more than money with anti-lock brakes. Remember your dad telling you the way to stop on slippery streets was to pump your brakes? That's what anti-lock brakes do. Up to 15 times a second. And this car is the least expensive way to get standard ABS.

Everything's covered bumper to bumper. Every Cavalier is backed by a no-deductible 3-year/36,000-mile warranty. That's the best proof of quality we can think of. A car for the price of lunch? What else would you expect from The Heartbeat of America?

THE HEARTBEAT OF AMERICA™

*Daily cost based on conventional 48-month financing at 10.93% APR with 20% down payment and $186.77 per month. APR based on average customer rate for GMAC contracts for Chevrolet vehicles during September 1992. M.S.R.P. of $9045 including dealer prep, destination charge and optional body side moldings. Tax, title, license, other optional equipment and operating expenses extra. †See your dealer for details of this program. Except the battery and normal maintenance; tires are covered by their manufacturer. See your dealer for terms of this limited warranty.
